OUR STORY

Welcome to The Birdcage, an historic Auckland icon and the local to the locals since 1885. The Birdcage was originally known as the Rob Roy Hotel, a wooden building erected on the site in 1865 making it one of Auckland's oldest pubs.

The current building was built on the same site in 1885 when Victoria Park was a busy industrial area that included ship builders, sawmills, a brass and iron foundry and glassworks. The hotel was designed by Edward Mahoney & Sons, who designed many of Auckland's early hotels as well as St Patrick's Cathedral.

Back in the day, patrons could reach the hotel by road or water because it was originally on the Freemans Bay shoreline. The reclamation of the old bay was completed in 1901, and Victoria Park was created on most of the resulting flat area.

The Building is now owned by NZTA who in 2010 famously moved all 740 tonnes 40 metres in a painstaking process to make way for the Victoria Park tunnel project.
